I don't know why I'm even posting this, honestly, except that I just don't like throwing away old writings. Just a stupid story I thought was funny at the time.

I sat at my desk writing code like any other day at work when my boss Dave stepped out of his office and said, "I have an announcement, everyone. I just want everyone to know that I'm not looking at porn--" he shook his head nervously. "I mean, I am looking at porn, but I'm doing it for legitimate reasons... so if anyone hears any moaning from my speakers or sees naked people in my window, I'm looking at porn for the company... I just didn't want anyone to get the wrong idea... I'm not doing anything nasty back here." Chris swiveled around in his seat. "Um... that's gonna require a little bit more explanation... like what kind of porn, and how do I get on board with this project?"

"I'm checking out this guy's portfolio--we're thinking about hiring a new designer--and this guy is pretty good but he's done a lot of work for porn sites so I have to go check 'em out and see what he can do."

"So did he give you a bunch of usernames and passwords to these sites?" Chris asked.

"Yeah, actually. He gave me about half a dozen different logins."

"Dude! Hook me up!"
